

Reduce your mobile evidence backlog

Graykey Fastrak scales the existing investment of Graykey so agencies can reduce their backlog using the tools and personnel already in place.

---

Mobile evidence is exploding

Getting to evidence from mobile devices as fast as possible is mission critical to serving justice. A single investigation typically contains multiple mobile devices—and some could involve hundreds. While technology such as Magnet Graykey has helped agencies access the data from mobile devices, extracting that data can still be a manual and time consuming process with some extractions taking several hours.

The result is a growing backlog of devices, delayed time to evidence, and could ultimately mean the matter of life or death in some investigations.

---

Reduce your mobile evidence backlog

Unleash the power of your Graykey at scale with Magnet Graykey Fastrak, a solution for extracting data from multiple mobile devices simultaneously. Pull more data in fewer steps with full file system extraction directly to your workstation, accelerating data retrieval and streamlining your existing workflows.

---

Get to evidence faster by simultaneously extracting data from multiple mobile devices

Agencies often lack the budget or the personnel to handle the volume of mobile devices that get collected over time or in a single investigation.

A single investigation alone could involve hundreds of devices contributing further to case backlog. With constantly varying caseloads, the ability to extract and process evidence quickly from mobile devices is crucial, especially for larger agencies.

---

Benefits of Graykey Fastrak

Accelerate

Reduce the time it takes to collect evidence by simultaneously extracting data from multiple mobile devices.

Simplify and save

Streamline the mobile data processing process by eliminating the cost and need for additional hardware devices

Scale

Extract data from multiple mobile devices simultaneously freeing up Graykey so it can focus on devices access.

Easy to use

Load mobile evidence quickly and easily with an easy-to-use application that you can install onto your own computer.

---

Key features

Simplify the mobile extraction process

- Load mobile evidence quickly and easily with an easy-to-use application that you can install onto your own computer
- Deploy quickly with hassle free installation
- Empower forensic examiners with an intuitive user interface
- Use the application from as many computers as you need on just one license

Faster data analysis begins with access to critical evidence

- Expedite your investigations with automatic data transfer to save time and reduce errors
- Streamline extractions by processing multiple devices in parallel to reduce backlogs
- Minimize manual steps to extract faster and reduce the risk of data corruption and file loss
- Get access to the Full File System, providing you with comprehensive digital evidence data

Maximize existing infrastructure for increased efficiency

- Scale the power of Graykey to expand and accelerate your mobile forensics
- Optimize file transfer time by saving files directly to your workstation
- Maximize the number of mobile devices supported by your current and future workstations
- Streamline the mobile data processing process by eliminating the need for additional hardware
- Manage and monitor mobile devices extractions through an application that you install onto your own computer

---

How Graykey Fastrak helps you

- Reduce costs: Use Graykey Fastrak on as many computers as you need with just one license
- Streamline the mobile data processing process by eliminating the need for additional hardware
- Process more mobile devices to quickly reduce case backlog
- Minimize manual steps to extract faster and reduce the risk of data corruption and file loss
- Extract complete full file system data from a growing portfolio of mobile devices including iOS and Android
- Optimize file transfer time and storage on Graykey units by saving files directly to your workstation

To learn more about how Magnet Graykey Fastrak can expedite your digital investigations, contact your sales representative by emailing sales@magnetforensics.com